

Company Lesson Leader Responsibilities

Introduction

Presenting the lessons at the monthly DUP Camp meetings is an important function for the meetings. As Company Lesson Leader, you provide training to the Camp Lesson Leaders and offer any assistance they might need throughout the year.

Summary of ISDUP Constitution and Bylaws

This is an appointed position.

Responsibilities

1. Assist Camp Lesson Leaders in Providing Lessons

- Lesson books can be purchased beginning in June at the ISDUP Museum either by phone at 801-532-6479, ext. 200, in person at 300 N Main, Salt Lake City, UT, or at ISDUP.org → Shop tab → Order Form. Prices are in US dollars (USD). Shipping is included in the prices.
- Lesson titles for the year and photos for each lesson are found at: ISDUP.org → Leadership tab → Lessons.

2. Utilize Information for Giving Lessons

- Each Camp is required to have a Lesson Leader who is responsible for the lesson, whether she gives it herself or assigns it to another Camp member.
- The lessons presented in the Camp meetings should cover just a brief portion of the materials. Extensive research has gone into the writing of each lesson. The end result is that they are a valuable research tool but provide too much information for a 25-minute lesson.
- Share the following teaching tips with Camp Lesson Leaders:
 - Lessons should be 25 minutes or less. Give only what can be presented in allotted time.
 - Study the entire lesson, then choose the parts you consider most interesting for your Camp.
 - Use dates sparingly.
 - Be enthusiastic, be prepared, and don't read the lesson as your presentation.
 - Consider occasionally using a creative method when presenting the lesson: music, first person story, skit, readers' theater, short quiz, picture display, artifact, or map.
 - Don't use outside material; there is plenty available in the lesson itself.
 - Assign out parts with caution. Be clear about time limits.
 - Allow comments but maintain control.
 - Have fun!

3. Train Camp Lesson Leaders

- Provide training for Camp Lesson Leaders.
- Distribute information from ISDUP regarding the role of the Camp Lesson Leader.

4. Resources Found at ISDUP.org

- List of current year lesson titles
- Photos to accompany each lesson
