Vice-Presidents can attend the President's workshop or another workshop that aligns with their assignment. Questions about Markers may be addressed at tables outside the auditorium.

10:30 am – Convention Meeting – For All Members and Associates

▪ ISDUP Updates, Reports, and Recognitions

▪ Introduction of 2026 Days of '47 Royalty

The Royalty for the 2026 Days of '47 includes queen Lindsey Christenson and attendants Daniela Bergantz and Sarah Lowry. Through the Days of '47 organization a variety of activities and celebrations are provided each year remembering the remarkable 1847 pioneers and all those who followed. As a member of the Days of '47 committee, ISDUP provides leadership for the Royalty program and their appearances throughout the year.

▪ Rise Up Children's Choir

ISDUP is thrilled to have this nationally and internationally recognized children's choir perform at the Convention. The upper-level ensemble known as Amplify, ages 13-18, performs a diversity of music and has performed for local, professional and international audiences. They are the winner of several prestigious awards nationwide for vocal performance; all are delighted with their entertaining music.

▪ Convention Speaker – “History of Daughters of Utah Pioneers 1901 - 2001”

Megan Weiss

Megan Weiss, as a PhD Candidate in US History at the University of Utah, spent a year at the Pioneer Memorial Museum researching the history of Daughters of Utah Pioneers. She read the minutes of National and International Board Meetings from the beginning of the Society in 1901 until the present day. Her dissertation, now completed, gives the first book-length, scholarly history of the Daughters of Utah Pioneers. Megan has recently graduated from the University, and we are proud to note that a portion of her work was published in the Utah Historical Quarterly in the Winter of 2026 volume entitled “A History of the Daughters of Utah Pioneers.”

Megan has worked for the Utah Historical Society, served a fellowship at Utah Humanities, hosted a weekly radio show called Beehive Archive, and is now employed on the Women's History Initiative Team for UHS. An engaging and motivational speaker, we are proud to host her as our speaker for the ISDUP Convention.

See you there!

Snacks and a list of local restaurants will be provided. There is no charge to attend the convention.
